

IMPACT

As an integral part of our outreach efforts, we offer awareness and education via many well-known media outlets and publications.

Our latest media coverage, recognition, events, and achievements can be found on our Media Outreach page.

Some Media Outlets We Have Assisted

Conferences

We have in our network experienced speakers available to discuss benzodiazepines at educational conferences and events.

Research

Members of our medical advisory board have published benzodiazepine-focused research. Additionally, Benzodiazepine Information Coalition can provide access to the benzodiazepine-impacted community for research purposes. A list of our research and results is available here.

Regulation

In 2017, we led a community-wide harm reporting drive to encourage the FDA to revisit benzodiazepine safety. In September, 2020 they did, issuing an updated boxed warning for the "serious risks of abuse, addiction, physical dependence, and withdrawal reactions."

Media Inquiries

We are available to provide interviews or commentary for various projects, from the perspective of both patients and experts.

We have a medical board with expertise on various aspects of the benzodiazepine experience.

We maintain a close working relationship with the large benzodiazepine-affected community, and we often serve as a vital bridge connecting journalists and other media outlets with patients who are willing to share their stories in print or on film.

If you are a journalist or reporter, we can help you. Contact us at media@benzoinfo.com.
